Course Description

The focus in FE 700 will be on the practice of curriculum design, program-planning and implementation. This will include assessment and evaluation of student-learning, communication with parents, the use of educational technologies, the development and articulation of a personal professional teaching philosophy, and familiarity with the Teaching Quality Standard. Pre-service teachers (PSTs) will be given increasing responsibility, progressing toward a full teaching assignment. This will occur five days a week for 4 weeks in Fall and 6 weeks in Winter.

Prerequisite: FE 600, completion of all course work, and the recommendation of course instructors.

Expected Learning Outcomes

The Seminar (SEM) component of FE 700 will build understanding of life in Alberta schools through collaboration, reflection, and shared praxis. FE 700 SEM will model a collegial community that fosters the aforementioned professional attributes expected of teachers in the profession. Pre-service teachers will be expected to engage as professionals, including contributing to discussions, sharing resources, asking thoughtful questions and enhancing the overall understanding of the profession with their peers.

Connecting School Experience to Seminar

- 1) Reflective journal
- 2) Small-group discussion
- 3) Peer feedback based on recordings of lessons and shared with a partner

TQS Competencies Addressed

During FE 700 pre-service teachers will be required to give evidence that they have met expectations related to the 6 Competencies as stated in Alberta Education's Teaching Quality Standard.

The aim is that PSTs demonstrate that they are...

- fostering effective relationships,
- engaging in career-long learning,
- practicing from a professional body of knowledge,
- establishing inclusive learning environments,
- applying foundational knowledge about First Nations, Métis and Inuit, and
- adhering to legal frameworks and policies.

Written evaluation of the pre-service teacher's achievement of expectations will be completed by both the partner teacher (PT) and the university consultant (UC) and shared with the pre-service teacher.

Purpose

The purpose of FE 700 is to provide pre-service teachers a transitional teaching experience in preparation for a position as teacher, over the duration of a 10-week practicum. The PST will gradually assume 100% of the partner teacher's responsibilities, developing an understanding of Curriculum Design and Program Development. The on-campus portion of FE 700 will provide pre-service teachers the opportunity to collaborate with their cohort regarding their experiences in schools, encouraging them to engage in shared praxis, thus preparing them for their future position as certificated teachers. They will experience the full life of a teacher, including unit and lesson design, program development, assessment, communication and management of expectations, with the guidance and support of their partner teacher.

Outcomes: to further develop the pre-service teacher's knowledge, skills and attributes in the following areas:

- projecting a professional image;
- managing time and resources;
- navigating and effectively using AB Ed documents such as Programs of Studies and IPPs;
- unit and lesson planning;
- classroom management and removing barriers to successful learning;
- assessment, evaluation and communication of achievement;
- teaching contexts;
- effectively meeting the needs of all learners;
- professional development trends in education;
- developing meaningful opportunity for inquiry;

- further defining and articulating personal philosophy of education; and
- entering the teaching profession in Alberta.

Course Schedule

Seminar Session 6: Marketing for a Career in Education, Part B - Interview skills, Principals'/Hiring Boards' perspectives. Interview video and discussion; mock interviews

Seminar Session 7: Role-Playing Difficult Conversations - with students, parents, administrators, colleagues

Seminar Session 8: Inclusion- responding to diversity related to learning, race, language, religion, economic class, gender, sexual orientation... explore biases in relation to the competencies and professional identity

Seminar Session 9: What type of teacher will you be? - Video with Dr. Lorraine Munroe and discussion

Seminar Session 10: You've just been hired...now what? - An opportunity to synthesize on-campus and in-school learning to date and make connections in preparation for your first teaching position...

Seminar Session 11: FE 700 Call-Back - Opportunity for cohort and faculty to discuss successes and challenges of the school experience and seminar. The Call- Back is mandatory; PSTs are requested to take the time to thoughtfully reflect on their experience, what went well and how it could be made better. This benefits the B Ed program-development by providing the faculty insight into what is working and what needs modification.

Requirements

The seminar is based on reflection, shared praxis, collaboration, and conversations regarding success in the school experience. There is an expectation that PSTs notice how partner teachers and others in the placement school facilitate student learning and share this with their cohorts in seminar. In order to support the professional development of every member of the cohort, participation and respectful discourse are expected. Attendance at each session is required. If a session must be missed, it is expected that the instructor will be informed prior to class and the student will complete a task that demonstrates understanding of the topic addressed in class and/or share highlights from their time away (except in the case of illness).

A minimum of 3 written reflections per week is required during field experience. These reflections are to be shared with the PT and UC once per week. These reflections inform the university consultant's feedback and conversations during observation visits.

Lesson plans/task designs must be completed to the requirements of a pre-service teacher. Lesson plans/task designs for lessons that will be observed and discussed with the university consultant must be shared prior to the UC's observation.

All tasks assigned by the partner teacher must be completed to the requirements of the partner teacher. This includes tasks that enhance a pre-service teacher's understanding of program development and teacher responsibilities.

Attendance

Attendance at each seminar session and every day of school experience is required. A maximum of 2 days may be missed over the Field Experience (both in the school and in seminar). Unanticipated exceptions will be discussed and reviewed by the PT, UC and Director of Field Experience.

Grade Summary

FE 700 is a pass/fail course. There are no examinations of a formative or summative kind in seminar, and no grades. Although all TQS competencies will be addressed, success in seminar will be based on the demonstration of professionalism, including attendance, engagement, reflection and collaboration. Each pre-service teacher will receive a comment as required, based on attendance and participation.

Evidence of Professionalism during SEM includes:

- attended class and arrived on time,
- came to class prepared,
- engaged in class discussion,
- acted in a professional manner, and
- contributed documents to cohort resources.

Please see separate package for detailed assessment information directly related to the school-experience portion of FE 700.

Important Note:

As there is potential for a recommended withdrawal/failing grade for this field experience, all pre-service teachers are advised to review the 'Policy for Notification of Concern' that was sent with the Fall syllabus, and is also in the handbook.

Any attempt to obtain credit for academic work through fraudulent, deceptive, or dishonest means is academic dishonesty. Plagiarism involves presenting someone else's ideas, words, or work as one's own. Plagiarism is fraud and theft, but plagiarism can also occur by accident when a student fails or forgets to acknowledge another person's ideas or words. Plagiarism and cheating can result in a failing grade for an assignment, for the course, or immediate dismissal from the university. Students are expected to be familiar with the policies in the current Academic Calendar that deal with plagiarism, cheating, and the penalties and procedures for dealing with these matters. All cases of academic dishonesty are reported to the Academic Dean and become part of the student's permanent record.
